

Stanley and far north west Tasmania

Drive along the spectacular north west coast of Tasmania and stay at Stanley. Stanley is famous for an extinct volcanic plug known as "The Stanley Nut" and for Crayfish, but our area has so much more to offer visitors.

Just up the road at Woolnorth and Cape Grim, the air is so clean and revitalising, when you breathe it in to your lungs, you can actually feel it energise your body. Further down the coast at the Arthur River, you can take a cruise into the Tarkine Wilderness, or witness the raging Southern Ocean pounding upon the shores at the lookout known as "The Edge of the World".

Walk along deserted pristine beaches, indulge in local seafood, beef and organic vegetables, forget about the world ... this is paradise.
